

A New Way of Modeling Traditional Buddhist Text

Howie LAN
ECAI
University of California, Berkeley
howielan@socrates.berkeley.edu

Abstract

As large amount of digital traditional Buddhist text becoming available, new ways are needed to use the digital data more efficiently, effectively, and creatively. In this presentation, a new way of modeling digital traditional Buddhist text will be discussed, exploring ideas such as abstracting digital text into effective forms for visualization and transforming them into abstract systems for analyzing.