

Adoption of e-Learning in Higher Education – Strategies and Issues

Jer Tsang YU ^{1*}, Eva WONG ^{2*}

1 City University of Hong Kong

2 Centre for Holistic Teaching and Learning, Hong Kong Baptist University

asjtyu@cityu.edu.hk ^{1*}, evawong@hkbu.edu.hk ^{2*}

There has been rapid growth in the adoption of e-learning technologies in higher educational institutions in the Asian Pacific region. Institutions recognize that they can no longer ignore the impact of e-learning in facilitating and enhancing student learning activities. Institutions need to develop and implement enterprise-wide strategies to ensure effective and efficient utilization of the technologies available to supporting student learning. The presenters will share some of their experiences and insights in the implementation of institutional level e-learning strategies.